

SAMPLE — THE STRUCTURE OF THE REPORT YOU'D RECEIVE

Family Readiness Clarity Report

Prepared for your family · personalized to your Review

A record of where your family's important information stands — what's documented, what rests on one person, and what no one's quite sure about.

This sample shows every section of the report, with the details left blank. Your report is filled in, with your family, during your Review.

Before this Review, what your family would need in a hard moment lived in scattered places, different people's memories, and a lot of "we'd figure it out." Your report brings it into one place — so you can see what's documented, what rests on one person, and what no one's quite sure about. The point isn't to alarm you. It's so your family isn't starting from zero when it matters.

Your Family's Picture

An at-a-glance read on where each area of your family's situation stands.

Your summary appears here

Where Things Live

In your Review, we walk through 6 specific areas of your family's situation — mapping, for each one, where it lives and who can reach it.

AREA	WHAT'S COVERED	WHERE IT STANDS
1	.....	.....
2	.....	.....
3	.....	.....
4	.....	.....
5	.....	.....
6	.....	.....

The six areas are mapped to your family during the Review.

The Responsibility Map

We map 4 key responsibilities — for each, who currently handles it, and what the family would face if that person weren't available. This is often the page families return to most.

#	WHO HANDLES IT NOW	IF THEY WERE UNAVAILABLE
1	.....	.....
2	.....	.....
3	.....	.....
4	.....	.....

It's where "I think we're fine" becomes a clear picture of exactly what depends on one person.

Visibility Gaps

---

What the family can account for — and what only one person currently knows.

What the family can account for

Filled in from your Review

What only one person currently knows

Filled in from your Review

Moments That Changed the Conversation

The points in the Review where your family saw something they hadn't before — preserved in their own words. This is what makes each report unique.

A moment from your Review

In your family's own words

A moment from your Review

In your family's own words

Every report's moments are unique — they can't be written before the conversation happens.

What Families Commonly Do Next

---

After the Review, your report closes with the common areas families often continue discussing — and where families often involve professionals. Descriptive, never a recommendation.

Information & Records

Common paths, in your report

Responsibilities

Common paths, in your report

Access & Continuity

Common paths, in your report

Professional Relationships

Common paths, in your report

Knowledge That Lives With One Person

Common paths, in your report

Where Families Often Involve Professionals

Common paths, in your report

You don't need to carry all of this in one person's head. That's what this record is for. What was scattered across people, places, and assumptions ends up in one place — so your family isn't guessing in a hard moment.

This sample shows the report's full structure. Every detail is filled in with your family, during your Review.